IN MEMORIAM.

In ever loving memory of Daisy Elizabeth, the dearly beloved wife of John D. Thomas, who passed away December 1st, 1928. Ever remembered by her husband and children.

IN MEMORIAM.

In ever loving memory of my beloved father, Wesley Oscar Levagood, who died at Wallace, Idaho, November 25th, 1924—
One year has passed but none can tell, The loss of my dear father I loved so well.
One of the best whom God could send, A loving father and a faithful friend.
And now when days are dark and friends are few,
Dear father, how I long for you.
Nothing but memories as I journey on,
Longing for a smile from a loved one gone,
None know the depths of my regrets,
But I shall remember though the world forgets.
When I think of all the changes that the passing year has brought.
I hope the world that holds him changeth not,
Dearly loved and deeply mourned by me,
Thelma A. Levagood.

Burnside

Lloyd Munson of Vulcan is spending a few days in this district on business.

We extend congratulations and best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Chris Winters (nee Thora Deckitt) who were married in Olds on Wednesday November 25th.

A goodly number of friends and neighbors spent last Friday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gilchrist.

Messrs. Geo. Hartly and Leon Doll left Thursday for their home in Woodcock, B. C.

Mr. Robert Spraggs returned Friday from a trip to Vancouver.

The Burnside U. F. A. held their annual meeting on Tuesday evening. After the regular business was transacted and all reports for the year received, the following officers were elected: President, F.

T. Boulton; vice-president, B. B. Weber; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Eckel; directors, Lloyd Hehn, Hugh McLean, Geo. Burns, J. W. Brown and A. A. Dawson; auditor, Hugh McLean; social committee, E. Dawson, Jas. McCullock, Mrs. E. Dawson, Mrs. L. Hehn and Frank Fretz; membership committee, Wm. Schultz, J. W. Brown, and Frank Fretz.

It was decided to hold the meetings on the second Monday of each month instead of the first Tuesday as has been the custom.

There was an animated discussion on the town well and numerous enquiries as to why there was no pump in it so that it could be used during the present season. It was decided to see what could be done about the matter. After a discussion on various other topics the meeting adjourned.

W. Axtell, Geo. Leisemer and Geo. Royds comprised a party that visited Dick Brown's ranch, west of town, last week. Whilst enjoying Dick's hospitality (of which by the way they speak very highly) they took advantage of the opportunity and picked up three fine head of deer, the carcasses of which have been on view at Royds and Kirby's meat market.

The interment was made in the Salmon Arm cemetery, Tuesday, November 16.

Sale of High-class Dairy Stock.

In regard to the herd sire that is owned by E. Sherrick, and which the cattle are bred to that he is offering for sale December 8th. He is a grand sire of Princess Segis Walker, one of the famous Ontario cows that not only was a show cow but an exceptionally heavy producer.

Her best day's milk was 45lb. Seven days, 146lb. Seven days' butter 38.06lbs.

In three different years she made over 30lb. butter for the seven days, and as a four-year old produced over 100lbs. milk per day for 30 days.

One of the most noted sires in Canada was Pontiac Korndyke Het Loo. He led all other sires in two years, having the largest number of high producing daughters. He is grand sire of Mr. Sherrick's herd sire.

The Japanese government, about a year ago, sent a man to Canada to secure some of the best cattle to be found and they paid more money for a daughter of the above sire than any other animal they bought.

Do not fail to attend the sale on December 8th, and secure some of Mr. Sherrick's cows in calf to this great sire. Buy the best and breed them better.

About 80,000 Square Miles in Province That Have Petroleum Possibilities

There are approximately 80,000 square miles in Alberta that have petroleum possibilities, according to a reported statement made by Dr. Allan, of the University of Alberta. Development work included 96 wells drilled to 1925, about 15 wells completed and at August, 1925, 15 wells were being drilled. Oil production from Alberta, 1915, to 1924, was 60,000 barrels.

A LOVE EPIC OF THE FAR NORTH

"DAREE, SON OF KAZAN," a Vitagraph Picture, With Wolf, the War Dog. Is an Adaptation of This Story

SYNOPSIS

Baree, the wolf-dog, attracted from the cabin of Pierrot, the trapper, by the call of the wolves, and Maheegum, the young she-wolf who was on the same quest, at length overtook the pack. A gray wolf advanced to Maheegum and she snarled at him. Baree sought to protect her, whereupon a horde of the beasts attacked him and he barely escaped with his life. Badly wounded, and dazed, because he had been cast out by his own kind—he was half-wolf—he fled and again wandered alone through the woods.

He did not hear, a few minutes later the howling of the disappointed wolf-horde on the other side of the river, and he no longer sensed the existence of moon or stars. Half dead, he dragged himself on until by chance he came to a clump of dwarf spruce. Into this he struggled, and then dropped exhausted.

All that night and until noon the next day Baree lay without moving. The fever burned in his blood; it flamed high and swift toward death; then it ebbed slowly, and life conquered. At noon he came forth. He was weak, and he wobbled on his legs. His hind legs still dragged, and he was racked with pain.

A red ferocity grew in Baree's eyes as he snarled in the direction of last night's fight with the wolves. They were no longer his people. They were no longer of his blood. Never again could the hunt-call lure him or the voice of the pack rouse the old longing. In him there was a thing new-born, an undying hatred for the wolf, a hatred that was to grow in him until it became like a disease in his vitals, a thing ever present and insistent, demanding vengeance on their kind.

CHAPTER XIX.

At the cabin on the Gray Loon, on the fourth night of Baree's absence, Pierrot was smoking his pipe after a great supper of caribou tenderloin he had brought in from the trail, and Nepeese was listening to his tale of the remarkable shot he had made, when a sound at the door interrupted them. Nepeese opened it, and Baree came in. The cry of welcome that was on the girl's lips died there instantly, and Pierrot stared as if he could not quite believe this creature that had returned was the wolf-dog. Three days and nights of hunger in which he could not hunt because of the leg that dragged had put on him the marks of starvation. Battle-scarred and covered with dried blood-clots that still clung tenaciously to his long hair, he was a sight that drew at last a long breath from Nepeese. A queer smile was growing in Pierrot's face as he leaned forward in his chair; and then slowly rising to his feet, and looking closer, he said to Nepeese:

"Ventre Saint Gris! Oul, he has been to the pack, Nepeese, and the pack turned on him. It was not a two-wolf fight—non! It was the pack. He is cut and torn in fifty places. And—mon Dieu, he is alive!"

In Pierrot's voice there was growing wonder and amazement. He was incredulous, and yet he could not disbelieve what his eyes told him. What had happened was nothing short of a miracle, and for a time he uttered not a word more but remained staring in silence while Nepeese woke from her astonishment to give Baree doctoring and food. After he had eaten ravenously of cold boiled mush she began bathing his wounds in warm water, and after that she soothed them with bear-grease, talking to him all the time in her soft Cree.

"To Nepeese and Baree it was a wild and joyous adventure that never for a day grew tiresome."

In a week or two the heavier snows came, and Pierrot began making his trips over the trap-lines. Nepeese had entered into a thrilling bargain with him this winter. Pierrot had taken her into partnership. Every fifth trap, every fifth deadfall, and every fifth poison-bait was to be her own, and what they caught or killed was to bring a bit nearer to realization a wonderful dream that was growing in the Willow's soul. Pierrot had promised. If they had great luck that winter, they would go down together on the last snows to Nelson House and buy the little old organ that was for sale there; and if the organ was sold, they would work another winter, and get a new one.

This plan gave Nepeese an enthusiastic and tireless interest in the trap-line. With Pierrot it was more or less a fine bit of strategy. He would have sold his hand to give Nepeese the organ; he was determined that she should have it, whether the fifth traps and the fifth deadfalls and the fifth poison-baits caught the fur or not. The partnership meant nothing so far as that was concerned. But in another way it meant to Nepeese a business interest, the thrill of personal achievement. Pierrot impressed on her that it made a comrade and co-worker of her on the trail. That was his scheme; to keep her with him when he was away from the cabin. He knew that Bush McTaggart would come again to the Gray Loon, probably more than once during the winter. He had swift dogs, and it was a short journey. And when McTaggart came, Nepeese must not be at the cabin—alone.

Pierrot's trap-line swung into the north and west covering in all a matter of fifty miles, with an average of two traps, one deadfall and a poison-bait to each mile. It was a twisting line blazed along streams for mink, otter and marten, piercing the deepest forests for fisher-cat and lynx and crossing lakes and storm-swept strips of barrens where poison-baits could be set for fox and wolf. Halfway over this line Pierrot had built a small log cabin, and at the end of it another, so that a day's work meant twenty-five miles. This was easy for Pierrot, and not hard on Nepeese after the first few days.

All through October and November they made the trips regularly, making the round every six days, which gave one day of rest at the cabin on the Gray Loon and another day in the cabin at the end of the trail. To Pierrot the winter's work was business, the labor of his people for many generations back; to Nepeese and Baree it was a wild and joyous adventure that never for a day grew tiresome. Even Pierrot could not quite immunize himself against their enthusiasm. It was infectious, and he was happier than he had been since his sun had set that evening the princess mother died.

One afternoon early in December, as they were returning to the Gray Loon, Pierrot stopped suddenly a dozen paces ahead of Nepeese and stared at the snow. A strange snowshoe trail had joined their own and was heading toward the cabin. For half a minute Pierrot was silent and scarcely moved a muscle as he stared. The trail came straight out of the north—and off there was Lac Bain. Also they were the marks of large snowshoes, and the stride indicated was that of a tall man. Before Pierrot had spoken, Nepeese had guessed what they meant.

"M'sieu the Factor from Lac Bain!" she said.

Pierrot, deep in his own sombre thoughts, scarcely heard the strange laugh that came suddenly from her lips. Nepeese was listening to the growl that was again in Baree's throat. It was a low but terrible sound. When half a mile from the cabin, she unslung the panniers from his shoulders and carried them herself. Ten minutes later they saw a man advancing to meet them.

It was not McTaggart. Pierrot recognized him, and with an audible breath of relief waved his hand. It was DeBar, who trapped in the Barren Country north of Lac Bain. Pierrot knew him well. They had exchanged fox-poison. They were friends and there was pleasure in the grip of their hands. DeBar stared then at Nepeese.

DeBar lost no time in explaining his mission, and before they reached the cabin Pierrot and Nepeese knew why he had come. M'sieu, the Factor at Lac Bain, was leaving on a journey in five days, and he had sent DeBar as a special messenger to request Pierrot to come up to assist the clerk and the half-breed storekeeper in his absence. Pierrot made no comment at first. But he was thinking. Why had Bush McTaggart sent for him? Why had he not chosen some one nearer? Not until a fire was crackling in the sheet-iron stove in the cabin, and Nepeese was busily engaged getting supper, did he voice these questions to the fox-hunter.

DeBar shrugged his shoulders.

"He asked me, at first, if I could stay. But I have a wife with a bad lung, Pierrot. It was caught by frost last winter, and I dare not leave her long alone. He has great faith in you. Besides, you know all the trap-lines on the Company's books at Lac Bain. So he sent for you, and begs you not to worry about your furlines, as he will pay you double what you would catch in this time you are at the Post."

Proves Honesty Of Public

Renting Motor Cars Is New Industry In Chicago

Inherent honesty of its customers, the public, is one of the cardinal assets that is permitting a new national industry to grow by leaps and bounds—the drive-it-yourself taxi.

Each of its business dealings present in itself an opportunity for a person criminally inclined to do wrong without let or hindrance, yet in the typical 999 of one thousand cases nothing dishonest ensues, and it is revealed that special pains have been taken to prevent damage or loss through what might be legally excusable carelessness.

The trade must be held open to all comers, and, aside from proving ability as a motor car driver and identifying one's self as the person represented, no tests of any nature are made.

Such is the finding of the system of renting motor cars, fostered and developed by John Hertz, the Chicago taxi-cab and motor coach manufacturer, after nearly two years of the new venture.

The rental cars bear no especially made thief-proof devices, coloring or markings, and do not differ materially in appearance from the various makes of cars manufactured for private ownership, yet in the thousands of rentals theft is very rare.

Odd Hours For Work

Inventor Finds His Brain Is Clearest Early in the Morning

Different people have different ways of working. Mr. Louis Brennan, C.B., the inventor of the Brennan torpedo and the gyroscopic monorail system of transport, wakes up regularly at about 3 a.m. He busies himself with thinking out problems, elaborating his theories, etc., for a couple of hours, at the end of which time he as regularly sleeps again, getting up a few hours later. From long experience, Mr. Brennan, who is now engaged in developing the principle of the helicopter, finds his brain clearer, and conditions generally more favorable for effective work, in the early morning than at any other time of the day.

Microphones Are Effective

New Innovation in British House of Lords May Cause Trouble

Installation of microphones and earphones in the British House of Lords, so that the hitherto inaudible debates may be heard, threatens to disrupt many friendships.

It has been discovered that the slightest whisper enters the microphones and can be heard by any person who happens to have his phone over his ears.

The result of this sensitiveness of the microphone today was an endless series of interjections during the speeches. Such comments as "why doesn't he shut up?" "What rot," etc., were plainly audible.

Antelope In National Park

Antelope, which were threatened with extinction in Canada a few years ago, have been successfully preserved in Neniskam National Park. When this preserve was established in 1915, there were only 45 in the herd, the last survivors of thousands that once had roamed the prairies. There are now 235 in the herd.

RHEUMATIC PEOPLE NOW FIND RELIEF

By Driving the Poisonous Acid From the System

Rheumatism attacks people when the blood is thin and watery or charged up with impurities, thus setting up inflammation of the muscles and joints. Cold, wet weather or sharp winds may start the pains, but the cause is rooted in the blood, and to get relief it must be treated through the blood. As a blood builder and nerve tonic Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are unsurpassed, and for that reason do not fail to give relief to rheumatic sufferers when given a fair trial. Among the rheumatic sufferers who have proved the great value of this medicine is Mr. N. M. Foley, Windsor, N.B., who says:—"My trouble started with a bad cold, the result of working in a heavy rainstorm. From that it developed into rheumatism which badly crippled me and kept me confined to bed for upwards of six months. The doctor who treated me did not help me, and every friend who called to see me had something different to advise. Some of these remedies I tried, but with no better results. My legs were stiff from the hips down, and every move I made caused intense pain, and constantly I was growing weaker. Then a friend from Falmouth, who came to see me, asked if I had tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I had taken so much medicine without benefit that I was skeptical and said so. My friend, however, had so much faith in the pills that he got me a supply and to please him I began taking them. I had not been taking them long when I began to feel a change for the better, and I gladly got a further supply. Soon I was able to get out of bed and walk around on crutches. Still taking the pills, I used in all seventeen boxes, by which time I was a well man and at work every day. Now I always keep a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in the house and if I feel an ache or pain I take them, and always with good results. I believe I would still be a bed-ridden cripple but for these pills, and I shall always praise and recommend them."

You can get these pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Ikey asked his father for a definition of honesty. "I will explain to you, mine son," said the parent. "Suppose you was in business and went to the bank to cash a check for $40 and the cashier gave you $50. Well, mine son, if you gave five of dot extra ten to your partner, dot would be honesty."

She Could Never Do The Things Other Girls Did

Miss L. J. Ross, Scollard, Alta., writes:—"I am only twenty years old, but have suffered from heart palpitation and nerve trouble for several years.

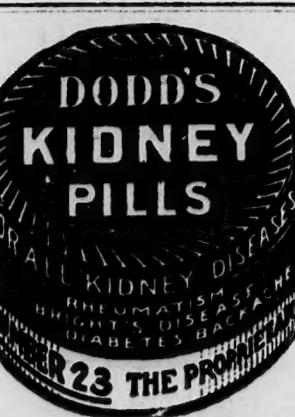

I could never do the things other girls did, that is, in the line of sports, skating, etc., and could never depend on myself at work.

About six months ago I began taking and am just twice the girl I was, and can enjoy everything in general life so much more. I am very grateful for what your Pills have done for me."

Eskimos Apparently Not Impressed By Sights In Montreal

After seeing all the sights of a modern city the four young Eskimos, seamen who joined the Jean Revillion, an Arctic fur-trading schooner, when she was brought to Liverpool, N.S., for overhauling, were apparently not thrilled.

The only modern thing man likes to which they have become partial, is tobacco, for they smoke continually.

The Eskimos went from Montreal to Pagwa, Ontario, where they will stay for the winter. It will be impossible to send the boat north before the spring, so the natives are being kept at Pagwa until an opportunity occurs in the spring to take them overland to their home at Baker Lake.

Sweden Had Unusual Summer

Average Temperature Was High With An Abundant Rainfall

The official daily weather records, which in Sweden go back two hundred years, reveal for the past season a number of astonishing facts. On several occasions this summer Sweden has been warmer than Egypt, and the average temperature for July was higher in Stockholm than in Paris.

The rainfall was also three times more abundant than usual and yet the number of hours with sunshine came close to the record, held by 1914. The Swedish crop has been remarkably abundant this year and the weather conditions for the harvest favorable.

International Livestock Exposition

Answer to Last Week's Puzzle

Good Representation From Canada at Big Show in Chicago

The farmers of Canada are very largely represented in competition with the best that the United States can produce at the International Livestock Exposition at Chicago. Last year Canadian exhibitors swept the boards in the hay and grain show and also won some of the most coveted blue ribbons for horses, cattle and sheep. The most outstanding victory won by Canada last year was when J. C. Mitchell, of Daftinda, Saskatchewan, won the world's wheat prize, making the third time he had scored this honor and the thirteenth time that Canada had won it in the fourteen years the competition has been held. Mitchell's prize bushel of Marquis wheat was the best in over 600 displays from all parts of the United States and Canada. He is competing this year and has hopes of winning again.

H.R.H. the Prince of Wales is entering his famous Shorthorn bull, "King of the Fairies," which was a champion at this year's Royal Winter Fair in Toronto. This bull, which is being sent from the Prince's ranch near High River, Alberta, won a fourth at Chicago last year. It has won championships in the most important livestock shows in Western Canada and has been awarded a gold medal by the British Shorthorn Breeders' Association.

At last year's International Show, Canadian grains and seeds captured 122 prizes including the world's championship for wheat, and the highest awards for alfalfa seed flax, flint corn and field peas, 25 out of the 30 premiums for hard spring wheat and 24 out of 30 in oats.

As in other years one of the attractions at the show will be the Canadian Government exhibit showing the great variety of products of the farms and orchards in all parts of Canada and indicating the opportunities the Dominion offers to settlers on its fertile lands, 240,000,000 acres of which still await settlement. The International Show will be held from November 28th to December 5th inclusive.

Peevish, pale, restless and sickly children owe their condition to worms. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator will relieve them and restore health.

Farmer (using telephone for the first time).—Send me a bushel of oats. Voice Over the Wire.—Who are they for? Farmer.—Don't be funny with me, my lad. They are for my horse.

New Pulp Mill

Construction Work Started For Manitoba Pulp and Paper Company

Work is now under way on the 250-ton pulp and paper mill being erected by the Manitoba Pulp and Paper Company, Limited, according to Col. H. C. L. Jones, vice-president of the Spanish River Pulp and Paper Company, which is behind the venture. The mill, when completed, will be very similar to the one now owned by the latter company at Espanola, Ontario, and the construction conditions on the two sites are also alike.

Canada As A National Unit

The conference held in Winnipeg last month of two hundred representatives of Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce from every province in Canada, and called together for the avowed purpose of frankly discussing the economic situation and needs of Canada, and from which discussion all partisan political considerations and controversies were rigidly excluded, gives promise of having inaugurated a new era in the discussion and consideration of practical questions and problems. At the concluding session one delegate characterized it as the "second Canadian confederation," and, apart from the important resolutions, all unanimously adopted, provision was made for the continuation of the work of the conference by the forming of a Dominion Board of Trade.

There was plain speaking at the conference, and no minimizing of the extent of the problems and difficulties at present confronting the Dominion, but, in all respects, there was a pronounced note of confidence in Canada and in the courage, ability and determination of the Canadian people to work out their own and their country's salvation. Canada has progressed greatly during the first fifty years of confederation, but the conference was agreed that in the years just ahead of it will be found its great opportunity, which, if fully grasped, will lead to a future of brilliance, abounding development and prosperity.

The object of the conference was to bring together representative business men from the Maritime Provinces, Ontario and Quebec, the Prairie Provinces, and British Columbia in order that the problems or grievances and the economic outlook of each of these four main sections might be frankly presented and just as frankly discussed in the hope that as a result a better understanding might result and a spirit of give and take, of compromise, of a willingness to get together be developed. The conference was unquestionably a success in these respects.

The economic situation in the Maritime Provinces received lengthy and sympathetic consideration, and it was generally agreed that action should be taken to help solve the problems at present confronting that portion of the Dominion. Maritime representatives strongly urged that it was essential that steps be taken to encourage the use of Canada's Atlantic seaports, and the diversion to those ports of much of the Canadian traffic now going to world markets through the United States. On the other hand the steadily growing importance of trade via the Pacific route and the Panama Canal to Europe was outlined. Then, between these two, the case for the development of the St. Lawrence and Great Lakes waterways to enable ocean-going vessels to come well into the interior of Canada and Great Lakes vessels to proceed overseas without breaking bulk, as well as the development of the Hudson Bay route, were presented. In time, no doubt, all these routes will be fully utilized, but the question now is, apart from purely political or sectional considerations, which offers the most immediate and greatest beneficial results to Canada as a whole.

In regard to another question, however, namely the coal mining industry, it was found that the interests of the Maritime Provinces and Alberta are largely identical, and one of the gratifying results of the conference was a joint meeting of men from these two widely scattered sections to draft a resolution covering this question, not from a Provincial or local point of view, but from a broad national standpoint.

The conference likewise disclosed a wonderful unanimity of opinion on the subject of immigration. Far East and Far West united with the more central Provinces in declaring that Canada's greatest need was more population in order to assist in carrying present national burdens of taxation, to solve our complex railway and transportation problems, and to develop the wealth of national resources of which Canada can boast. There was equal unanimity in declaring that recent administrations at Ottawa have been neglectful of the essential national work of immigration, and an unequivocal demand made for the inauguration and prosecution of a most aggressive immigration policy.

Tangible results may be expected from the conference, but its greatest value will doubtless be found in the promotion of that better understanding between all sections of the Dominion which was the basic idea underlying the holding of the conference. It is even not too much to hope that the conference has given marked impetus to the development of that more intangible thing which Canada has lacked, and the lack of which has been causing real concern and even jeopardizing the future of the Dominion, namely, a national spirit.

The Winnipeg conference thought and acted nationally in a way that even the Dominion Parliament has seldom achieved. This, in itself, holds promise of much future good for Canada.

It appears that an experienced father has come to the front with an explanation of radio howling. Radio, he says, is still in its infancy.

Has Best Climate in World Says British Visitor

England is rather in the basement as to climate, while Canada is on the best floor of that great house, the British Empire, said Lady Cowan, a distinguished British visitor in Toronto, who gave a brief address at the meeting of the Municipal Chapter, Daughters of the Empire.

Lady Cowan has travelled almost across the Dominion and has met many hundreds of Canadian women. She expressed the greatest admiration for the wonderful work they were doing for the Dominion and for the empire.

"I was a lover of the empire before I came here," she said, "but I do not think I am putting it too strongly when I say that I am thrilled with what I have seen of Canada."

Indian Woman Dies On Hunting Trip

Widow of Quebec Trapper Was Hundred Years Old

Mrs. Louis Thomas, widow of an Indian trapper, of Lake Kiskissing, Quebec, died suddenly while hunting, according to a verdict of a coroner's jury. She was supposed to be 100 years of age.

Mrs. Thomas lived in a camp near the lake and a few days after she left for her last hunting trip her canoe was found upside down and full of game. The body was found in the lake, a few yards from the canoe, and it is thought that Mrs. Thomas died of heart failure while hunting.

CHILDREN LIKE BABY'S OWN TABLETS

Because They Are Tasteful and Are Easy to Take

One of the strongest points in favor of any medicine for children is that it is so agreeable that the mother does not have to force it down the little one's throat.

Baby's Own Tablets have no drug taste, may be crushed to a powder if desired, and babies like them. They are perfectly safe for they contain no opiate or narcotic. They sweeten the stomach and remove the cause of fretfulness.

Mrs. Arthur Charlebois, Pawtucket, R.I., says: "I have found Baby's Own Tablets to be a gentle laxative and a safe remedy for stomach disorders in children. Our little boy had been given harsh cathartics, but these tablets worked more effectively without the severe griping. I can recommend them to all mothers of little children."

Baby's Own Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Horses Going into Discard

Farm and Ranch Review, in reviewing the statistics of horse population in Canada, says that 20 to 30 per cent. of the present farm horse stock will go into the discard within five years, and the young stock is not there to take their places.

Certain morbid conditions exist in the stomach and intestines to encourage worms, and they will exist as long as these morbid conditions permit them to. To be rid of them and spare the child suffering, use Miller's Worm Powders. They will correct the digestive irregularities by destroying the worms, conditions favorable to worms will disappear, and the child will have no more suffering from that cause.

Canada produces no tin ores. Though the occurrence of tin-bearing minerals has been noted in a number of localities, they have never yet been found in sufficient quantity to be of any economic importance.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

DECEMBER 6

PAUL'S VOYAGE AND SHIPWRECK

Golden Text: Be of good cheer; it is I; be not afraid. Matthew 14:27. Lesson: Acts 27:1-4. Devotional Reading: Psalm 107:23-32.

The Text Explained and Illuminated

Paul Frustrates the Sailors' Plot, verses 30-32.—Read the Historical Background. The sailors under pretense of throwing out anchors from the foreship had lowered the small boat, and Paul was the only one who perceived their intention of making their escape in it. Paul told the centurion and soldiers of the sailors' plan, and warned them that without the sailors the ship could not be managed and all would perish. The soldiers promptly settled the matter by cutting the ropes that held the boat and letting her drift away.

"This enthusiast, fanatic and dreamer, as most men called him, this visionary and impractical idealist, as most men deemed him, proved to be the most shrewd, cool-headed, clear-sighted man on board when the extreme danger put them all on trial. He had learned to keep his eyes open, his mind steady, and his pulses calm. It is not so much skill that avails in hours of peril, but the unshaken nerve, the steady hand, the heart that beats evenly, the courage that rises to the occasion. He was sure of himself because sure of his God" (J. G. Greenough).

Canadian Historical Stamps

New Issue Will Shortly Be Placed On Sale

According to an announcement by the post office department, the first of a series of Canadian historical stamps is soon to be issued. The new issues will be three in number—one bearing the portraits of Baldwin and LaFontaine; a second, the portrait of Thomas D'Arcy McGee; and a third, the portraits of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Sir John MacDonald. "In addition to their educational value," says the department announcement, "they are also likely to be widely sought and highly valued by stamp collectors in different parts of the world."

Long Standing Asthma. Many have suffered so long from asthma and have tried so many so-called remedies they think that there is no real help for them. They should read the letters received by the manufacturers of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy from hundreds of cases once as desperate as their own. Even in long-neglected cases this famous preparation brings prompt help.

The Toronto board of education has prohibited the purchase for use in schools of any goods manufactured in Germany or in any of the countries allied with it in the Great War.

It will Relieve a Cold—Colds are the commonest ailments of mankind and if neglected may lead to serious conditions. PROGRESSIVES OF ALBERTA MIGHT ASSIST LIBERALS

Calgary.—Basis upon which the farmer members from Alberta will co-operate with the Liberal Government was discussed at a conference of the newly-elected U.F.A. Federal members of parliament held in Calgary. Robert Gardiner, member for Acadia, was appointed by the gathering to present the views of the Alberta members to Premier King.

Discussing possibility of co-operating with Mr. Meighen, the members came to the conclusion that the Conservative leader's attitude on the tariff and upon western freight rates, made co-operation with his party an impossibility. As far as the Liberal stand on the tariff was concerned, they were inclined to the opinion that little could be expected in the way of immediate tariff changes.

There were three points upon which the U.F.A. members felt that they could seek to co-operate with Premier King and the Liberal party with some hope of success. These were the establishment of a system of rural credits; the introduction of the single transferable vote; and the transference of the control of natural resources to the provincial government, a move which would place the right to develop the Spray Lakes power project under the control of the Alberta Government.

An Historic Inn

Dickens Shrine in Boston About to be Demolished

Boston, Mass.—The historic Parker House, birthplace of the famous "Parker House Roll," and since 1854 one of Boston's most celebrated hosteries, served its last breakfast recently. When the last guest had departed, preliminary steps were taken for the demolition of the building, to make way for a modern structure of 700 rooms.

Charles Dickens spent a winter there, and recently the Dickens Fellowship in Boston paid a farewell visit to the rooms which he occupied and which have been kept since as a literary shrine.

Attempted To Smuggle Opium

Large Consignment Found When Steamer Docks at New York

New York.—Foo Fhu Hing, butcher of the steamship Eastern King, was held in $15,000 bail in Brooklyn federal court charged with attempting to smuggle into this country 221 pounds of smoking opium when the steamer docked.

The drug, which was found concealed under the sheet lead flooring of the ship's ice box, was one of the largest consignments seized from a ship here.

George Oliver, chief steward of the ship, was detained as a material witness.

Canadian Nurses For China

Plans were formulated to this end at the convention of nurses attended by about 90 delegates from every section of the province.

"Three Little Maids"

New Theatrical Offering By Capt. Plunkett To Be Produced in the West

For seven seasons, ever since the Dumbells' Revues began their record-breaking Canadian tours, Capt. M. W. Plunkett, the producer, has been besieged with requests for more theatrical offerings of the same high standard—particularly musical comedies. Capt. Plunkett was determined, however, that he would not add to his theatrical enterprises until he was personally convinced that his second series would be as outstanding an event as his first was.

"Three Little Maids," the London and New York musical comedy success was the choice. Its tour marks the inauguration of a new policy. "Three Little Maids" is crammed with good comedy and unusual music. Its songs are classed by critics as "The most beautiful in a generation."

Capt. Plunkett has given the play a magnificent production. Scenic and lighting effects were specially designed and Capt. Plunkett has contrived to introduce that peculiar speed and sparkle which is a unique characteristic of all his productions. Western dates are as follows:

Walker Theatre, Winnipeg, Tues., Dec. 1, to Sat., Dec. 5; Regina Theatre, Regina, Mon., Dec. 7, to Wed., Dec. 9; Empire Theatre, Saskatoon, Thurs., Dec. 10, to Sat., Dec. 12; Empire Theatre, Edmonton, Mon., Dec. 14, to Wed., Dec. 16; Grand Theatre, Calgary, Thurs., Dec. 17, to Sat., Dec. 19; Orpheum, Vancouver, Mon., Dec. 21, to Wed., Dec. 23; Royal Theatre, Victoria, Thurs., Dec. 24, to Sat., Dec. 26.

Half-Breeds Facing Trial For Murder

Alleged To Have Slain Cripple On Hazelton Reserve, B.C.

Prince George, B.C.—Alexander Bird, Frank Bird and Albert Roi, half-breed residents of South Fort George, have been charged with the murder, September 12, last year, on the Hazelton Indian Reserve, of Matthew McLean, and probably will be placed on trial at the spring assizes here.

Alexander Bird was arrested at Quesnel by Provincial Constable Clarke. Roi was picked up by the police near Hazelton, and Frank Bird is serving a sentence here for drunkenness.

On the date of the alleged murder the Indians were holding a celebration on their reserve, which is said to have ended in a free-for-all fight, at the end of which McLean was missing.

The new structure will be the largest terminal warehouse on the North American continent.

Picturesque Trader Leaves Stock Exchange

Disposed of New York Seat For Record Price

New York.—Ill health has driven from the New York stock exchange one of the most active and picturesque floor traders, Jacob Field, known generally as "Jakie," who started on the street as a messenger boy.

In 1898 he paid $19,000 for his seat, and he disposed of it for $152,000, the highest price on record.

He was a "free lance" trader, and a cubby hole in a broker's branch office was his headquarters.

Vancouver elevator space is virtually filled, officials of the Canadian Pacific Railway transportation department stated with 4,590,958 bushels in stock. Marketings on the prairies continue heavy, showing a grand total of 5,037,726 on both railroad.

On the Canadian Pacific lines there were marketed on Nov. 23 in Manitoba 527,739 bushels; in Saskatchewan 1,399,234 bushels; and in Alberta 920,753 bushels, making a total of 2,847,726 bushels. A total of 1,572 cars was loaded, while 1,441 Canadian Pacific grain cars were inspected in the west.

Geneva.—The number of treaties registered with the League of Nations reached 1,000 with the filing by Sweden and Norway of the documents exchanged relative to the interpretation of their arbitration convention of 1905.

Officials of the league assert all the member nations are faithfully observing the clause of the covenant which obligates them to register all treaties.

To this clause United States President Wilson attached the greatest importance as an instrument for furthering open diplomacy.

Threaten Life Of Japanese Premier

Guards Stationed At Residence Is Safety Measure

Tokio.—Heavy police guards are stationed at the premier's residence, due to the recent letters threatening his life, coinciding with information in the hands of the police of assassination plans.

A fortnight ago a burglar knifed and shot a school teacher and policeman, and escaped. His associate, caught by the police, confessed that the murderer, knowing that eventually he would receive the death penalty, decided to end his career in a blaze of glory by killing the premier and as many other personages as possible.

Prince Salomon, visiting Tokio, was constantly surrounded by a police guard.

Blow To Communists

Conviction of Twelve Members Charged With Seditious Libel

London.—The trial of twelve Communist leaders which ended in the Old Bailey with sentences of imprisonment of 12 months for the five principal prisoners, against whom previous convictions had been proven, and six months for the seven others, against whom no previous convictions were recorded, is the greatest blow the Communist party has yet experienced in this country.

The men, who were charged with conspiring to publish seditious libels and with violation of the Incitement to Mutiny Act, will be classed in the "second division," which means simple deprivation of their liberty.

Many Drowned In Athens

Floods Following Torrential Rain Cause Houses to Collapse

London.—More than 100 persons are believed to have perished in the floods in Athens, following a torrential rain of an hour and 20 minutes, says a dispatch to The Daily Express. Many houses in the refugee settlement collapsed. The inmates were buried in the ruins, and many were swept away and drowned. Flood waters from Mount Lykabettos washed up 38 tombs in Anagnostopoulos Street here.

Battle With Seas

San Francisco.—The Marine Exchange of the Chamber of Commerce received a message from Honolulu saying the steamer Ryohu limped into that port yesterday after a ten-day battle with storms in mid-Pacific. The ship's bridge, chart room and captain's cabin were badly damaged, and her steering gear crippled. The Ryohu, of 3,467 tons net, sailed from Vancouver, October 18 for Kobe.

THE OVERSEAS DOMINIONS AND LOCARNO PACT

London.—The attitude of the British dominions to the Locarno pact was a subject for lengthy debate in the House of Lords, and the trend of the speeches was that the overseas governments should support the action of Britain. The dominions "must not regard the treaties as if they have no obligations in Europe," Viscount Grey of Fallodon declared.

The Earl of Balfour said he had no misgivings regarding the result of the Locarno pact. The British dominions, he said, were not bound by the treaty, but he was sure they would realize that this was a great effort on the part of the Mother Country to secure peace. The dominions would see if ever war was forced upon Great Britain under the treaty that the whole moral forces of the world would be behind her. Such a war obviously would be a defensive one, intended to check brutal and unnecessary aggression, and not merely feelings of patriotism and common kinship would move the dominions to sympathize with the Mother Country, but all the elements of higher morality to which the dominions were singularly alive.

Lord Haldane was of the opinion that the best way was for the British Government to inform the governments of the dominions of the conduct of the negotiations in connection with the treaty as swiftly as possible and leave them to judge for themselves.

Saskatchewan Egg Pool

May Be In Position To Start Operations Early In New Year

Regina, Sask.—The success attending the final drive for contracts in the Saskatchewan egg and poultry pool indicates that the pool will be in a position to start operations early in 1926. G. F. Edwards, chairman of the provincial board of directors, announces.

Approximately 3,000 contracts have been received to date at headquarters, and an increasing number is coming in daily. There are 240 men canvassing for contracts in various parts of the province on a commission basis, and more are appointed in the various municipalities. It is hoped that sufficient contracts will have been secured by the end of this year to enable the provincial board to take the necessary steps to have a permanent board of directors elected by the contract signers in time to start the pool operating in March, 1926.

Revolt Among Chinese Troops

Supporters of Manchurian War Lord Fighting Each Other

Pekin.—A serious revolt has occurred among the supporters of the Manchurian war lord, Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, who are fighting each other at Lanchow and Chinwangtao in Eastern China along the Pekin-Mukden Railway.

The claims of the various parties, however, are conflicting.

Some quarters assert that General Kuo Sung-Lien, Manchurian general, has captured Mukden, the capital, and imprisoned Chang, while the others assert that Chang's loyal troops have broken the railway at Chinwangtao to hinder an advance by Kuo Hung-Lien against Mukden.

It is considered certain that the Mukden party has collapsed, at least temporarily, thus strengthening the hand of Feng Yu-Shiang, the Christian general.

Conference To Bear Fruit

Vancouver, B.C.—The conference of boards of trade of all the larger cities of Canada, held in Winnipeg recently, is likely to prove one of the most important developments in Canadian affairs, in the opinion of D. B. Hanna, former president of the Canadian National Railways and veteran railroader and financier, who is visiting at the coast. Mr. Hanna was one of the representatives of the Toronto board of trade.

The many friends of Jim McDougall deeply sympathize with him in the loss of his beloved "Lizzie." It seems Lizzie became tired of waiting for Jim to get his coat from the house and started to amble alone across the field. After jumping two wire fences it butted into the railroad track, where it is rumored it became a total loss. The words of sympathy which Jim expressed over his truck probably account for the mild weather we are now experiencing.
